Rhos Mediation

Community Conflict Resolution

David Miller and Gaynor Jones

What is mediation?

- Method of dispute resolution
- Voluntary. Private. Non-threatening .
- Neutral mediator. Not a judge
- Parties create their own settlement - empowering
- Agreement made legally binding by consent
- Risk free.
- If no agreement reached, parties are free to litigate: 'without prejudice'

Why use mediation?

- Fast, cost effective dispute resolution
- Informal, and confidential
- Less stressful, and uncertain, than litigation
- 85% success rate
- Rebuilds, rather than fractures, relationships

What disputes can be mediated?

- Agricultural
- Construction and land
- Education and intellectual property
- Boundary and access
- Corporate and partnership
- Employment
- Personal injury

Why use Rhos Mediation?

- High quality, personalised service
- Value for money, especially compared with litigation
- Client charged on ability to pay
- Not-for-profit: all surplus funds used to train new mediators
- Financial contribution to referring parish funds

What we will charge

- £500 per session
- £250 per party
- Immediate reduction in cases of hardship
